

Renate C.-Z.-Quehenberger is collaborating with Anna Ceeh (Institute for Art and Technology e.V.), an internationally successful contemporary artist living in Vienna who conceived the idea of a hybrid Art Academy for children & young people.

It is designed as an art edutainment platform that offers exciting knowledge about art and digital media in the form of audiovisual tutorials. The e-learning modules are delivered „first-hand“ by inspiring artists and new media specialists who motivate the young people to learn and give impulses for their own research, as well as the joy of creating their own stories and films about art when visiting art galleries and museums to be published on the Academy website. The contents of this online art platform will be expanded into an archive dedicated to the task of preparing Austria's artistic heritage as well as Vienna's current creative potential in an easily accessible format.

Executive Board: Mag. art. Anna Ceeh, Mag. art. Marko Lulić und MMag. art. Iv Toshain

The founding team is currently searching for initial funding of the programming of the Art Academy website from private and public institutions.

Please mention the project title on your GSIS donations dedicated to the children's Art Academy project.
